CEE 1 Systems thinking in HE: The Nature of the Beast in HE

Leading in uncertain and complex environments
Conquering challenges and creating new pathways
The tie that bonds: a shared image of a desired future

Unravelling the pattern which connects through five principles:-

- Principle #1 Openness: Critical stakeholder transactions

CEE 2 Personal mastery

The essential challenge in future individual and team performance is personal mastery. It necessitates support workers, team leaders, and managers assessing and applying their own knowledge to comprehend, motivate, and manage people in a variety of settings, including conflict and interpersonal differences. This course is taking personal mastery a step further by teaching how to fully understand who you are and what drives you; it is primarily concerned with self-awareness, inner-work, and observing the impact our patterns of thinking, feeling, and behaving have on the people and situations around us, as well as the outcomes of these encounters.

CEE 3 Leaders as change agents in the new HE context

Higher education is currently facing tremendous difficulties, which are fuelled by the internet's rapid expansion, higher education's rising globalisation, and the ever-present question of institutional quality. Leading change has become an ever-present reality for leaders in the higher education sector. The traditional pattern of instructional providing is being broken by new types of educational delivery via virtual networks. Higher education is being redefined by new players. The rules are changing, and higher education institutions are under more pressure to adapt.

¹ Please note that a course will only be offered if there are sufficient registration numbers

- Types of change management models
- Equipping faculty to be part of the processes of change agency

CEE 4 Leading people through effective communication

In our increasingly VUCA (volatile, uncertain, complex, ambiguous) higher education environment, persistent changes become a point of much reflection and bring about key learnings and insights. For one, HE leaders are reminded that leading people through change begins with communicating effectively, authentically and with respect in a way that enables leaders to lead with influence, inspire change and take people along instead of forcing change. Leaders may have different styles. Whatever their style, communication remains central to their leadership role.

This course will focus on leadership communication for change. Effective leaders do not start to communicate when change is needed or happening, they already have the understanding that leading people through change hinges on connection built on empathy and trust. Leaders should consistently and intentionally enhance their ability to be

CEE 5 Leadership and strategy in the new context

The course participants will engage about the role and duties of the leader, theories of educational leaders, what makes educational leaders effective in their role and challenges faced by senior leaders. The course will endeavour to find new paths of leadership for the current and future HE challenges and will focus on the key conditions that need to be in place to ensure followers are motivated to follow voluntarily.

Capstone project

The capstone project is deemed the culminating experience in HELA. The capstone can be either research-based or applications-based. The capstone project allows participants to demonstrate the breadth and depth of their acquired knowledge and experiences through application to a real-life setting.

- A research paper. A long-form paper that investigates a specific issue related to leadership in higher education, based on a comprehensive literature review and potentially original research. This may include interviews, surveys, or data analysis,
- A case analysis. Participants analyse a real-life case related to higher education leadership, outlining problems, and proposing solutions.
- Development of a strategic or operations plan for an entity. Participants create a comprehensive strategic plan for a real entity within the university, addressing key areas like budgeting, governance, staff development, operational excellence, etc.
- A community project: Participants engage with local communities to implement an initiative, for instance, a mentoring programme, improving access to resources, or initiating positive.
